Certain Dainty Gift Articles That Are Not Bought "Ready-Made"

There is at least one excellent reason why so many people who are clever in embroidering, knitting and making pretty and practical things are making their own gifts; it is the SENTIMENT that "personally-made" gifts carry with them.

But making one's own gifts takes time, for you must first decide WHAT to make. A good plan will be to decide this question for yourself NOW, if you've not already done so, and BEGIN! It's not a day too early.

That we have made this place and time oppor-tune for the assembling of all the various accessories for gift-creating is now evidenced in many sections of the store.

OUR RIBBON SECTION, for instance, is displaying dozens of ideas, and our ART NEEDLE-WORK SECTION has literally hundreds, from fancy baskets and cushions to drawn-work, and stamped pieces to embroidery and knitting materials of all kinds. THE SECTION-OF HANDKER-

CHIEFS (and it is wonderful what dainty and clever things one may sometimes make from them) is also showing many lines that are ideal for the making of fancy gifts. THE NOTION COUNTERS, too, offer many suggestions that are helpful to one seeking things useful and artistic though inexpensive.

We particularly invite you to see these new ideas, many specially worked out thus early for the benefit of those who plan to make at least some of their Xmas gifts themselves.
